

ON APRIL 25, 2011, the W. P. Carey Foundation announced a gift of $30 million to the School of Law. The gift is the largest in the School's history, one of the largest gifts to any law school, public or private, and one of the largest in the history of the University System of Maryland. The gift will establish a permanent endowment to support faculty and programs.

This generous gift is being made in honor of Wm. Polk Carey's grandfather, Francis King Carey, a graduate of the School of Law Class of 1880. In recognition, the law school will become the University of Maryland Francis King Carey School of Law. (See page 10.)

Learn more at www.law.umaryland.edu/carey

On the Cover, first row (from left): University President Jay Perman, Baltimore Mayor Stephanie Rawlings-Blake '95, Wm. Polk Carey, UM Carey Law Dean Phoebe Haddon, and Maryland Governor Martin O'Malley '88. Second row (from left): University System Chancellor William "Brit" Kirwan, Congressman Elijah Cummings '76, and Francis J. Carey. (Photo by Tracey Brown)

