19 OPEN 4 BUSINESS

Two School of Law business professors have taken their classes on the road—to a local law firm and to the Maryland Intellectual Property Legal Resource Center—to pave the students' ways with valuable real-world experience.

23 HOMAGE TO A HERO

Professor Stanley S. Herr, who passed away last fall, is remembered by colleagues, students and alumni as a champion for the causes of the physically and mentally challenged.

27 JOLLY GOOD FELLOWS

Two recent graduates, who received prestigious national fellowships, are following in Professor Stan Herr's footsteps. Their work at the Maryland Disability Law Center will benefit Baltimore's handicapped community.

31 A LAWYER'S LANDSCAPE

For those who hold a law degree, the paths are many. Three members of the Class of 2001 talk about their fledgling careers before they began full-time work and half-way through the first year of their careers.

35 ALL WIRED UP AND READY TO GO

The School of Law's new facility is one of the most technologically advanced legal education buildings in the country. Read what the buzz is all about.

43 THE SKY'S THE LIMIT

The new building, which will open next month, will afford the School of Law community limitless opportunities—for education, research, scholarship, public service and policy development.

51 2002 DISTINGUISHED GRADUATE

Raymond G. LaPlaca '83, a partner at Knight, Manzi, Nussbaum & LaPlaca, believes in giving back to the communities that have nurtured him along the way.

52 2002 BENJAMIN L. CARDIN PRO BONO SERVICE AWARD

A partner with Brown, Goldstein & Levy, Andrew D. Levy '81 believes that having a license to practice law carries with it the responsibility of giving something back.

53 HER SPIRIT MOVES MANY

One of the School of Law's oldest living graduates and the first black female lawyer elected to the House of Delegates, Lena K. Lee '51 continues to inspire a new generation of public servants.

55 LAWYER SLAM-DUNKS FOR YOUTH

Former college basketball standout Michael Scholl '97 left a lucrative legal practice to make a difference in the lives of impoverished South African children, on and off the court.
