13 A Tribute to a Legend

With Professor John Brumbaugh's passing in early August, the School of Law marks the end of an era. In the words of colleagues and former students, he is remembered as the heart and soul of the School.

17 Building on Our Strengths

Three additions to the law school's faculty are bolstering three of the School's already-strong areas—intellectual property, writing and technology. Learn about the newcomers' accomplishments and their plans for the academic program.

Specialty Programs Earn High Marks

What's so special about the School of Law's specialty programs? Is it A) they are nationally acclaimed, B) they attract top-notch students and faculty, C) they provide representation for those who can't afford to hire an attorney, or D) all of the above?

27

Courtroom Competition

Long hours and lost weekends can't deter members of the School's trial teams. Their hard work is paying off with regional titles and national recognition.

A Past Full of Future

Although he had to shift gears and change lanes, alumnus Matt Seiden's background paved the way for a career in international intellectual property law.
