Bush to Chair Law

School Fund

Graeme W. Bush '76 will become chair of the 1995-96 Law School Fund Board on July 1, 1995, succeeding John B. Isbister '77. Due to the School of Law's change to a traditional July to June fiscal year, Bush will head the Law School Fund Board from July 1, 1995 to June 30, 1996.

"I look forward to working with all of the dedicated alumni of the University of

Graeme W. Bush '76

Maryland School of Law to continue building the Law School Fund that has enjoyed consistent growth under the leadership of John Isbister. With the assistance of the alumni and development staff, I hope to bring new and creative ideas to the table during my tenure."

Bush is a member of the firm Caplin & Drysdale, Chartered, in Washington, D.C., concentrating on white collar criminal litigation and related civil proceedings. He has represented clients in connection with securities fraud, tax shelter, financial institution, attorney fee, attorney grievance and pension plan litigation. He received his B.A. from Wesleyan University before attending law school. He lives in Washington with his wife and three children.
