EDITOR'S NOTE

The International Trade Law Journal apologizes for inconveniences caused to our subscribers due to the long publishing delays we have experienced. We expect to resume publishing on a regular schedule of one volume (two issues) per year.

Beginning with the next issue, Volume Eight Number One, we are changing our title to The Maryland Journal of International Law and Trade. The scope of the Journal will be expanded to include all areas of international law, although the emphasis will continue to be on issues of international trade law. The Journal welcomes submission of articles from our professional and student readers on topics dealing with current issues in the areas of international law and international trade.
