EDITORS' NOTE

On July 11, 1973, the Honorable Simon E. Sobeloff died in Baltimore. Shortly thereafter, this Review, by its then editors, promised an issue in tribute to his memory. Belatedly, we now provide it. We sincerely regret that it has taken us so long to put it together, but hope it is a little better for the delay.

This issue marks the departure of Professor Hal M. Smith from the office of faculty advisor. He has served this Review since 1963, and we are grateful for his service. Professor Smith's formal departure has not ended his association with the Review, as he continues to assist us. Officially, he is replaced by Professor Edward A. Tomlinson, from whom we have every reason to expect the best.
