Clowning Around

Chuck Tatelbaum ’66

How often does winning a case turn into a trip to clown college? Once in a lifetime, at least for Board of Visitors member Charles Tatelbaum ’66. After successfully litigating a case for Macy’s, the retailer offered to send Tatelbaum and his wife, Kitty, to the Big Apple Circus Clown U. They put their learning to good use for the first time in the 2011 Macy’s Thanksgiving Day Parade, and he has reprised his clown role every year since.

C. Justin Brown '05

C. Justin Brown '05 represents Adnan Syed, the subject of the “Serial” podcast that went viral this past October. On May 18, 2015, the Maryland Court of Special Appeals granted Syed’s request and remanded the case back to the Baltimore City Circuit Court based on briefs submitted by Brown on Syed’s behalf. This was an extraordinary outcome in that the appellate court granted the relief Brown was seeking without ever conducting oral arguments. Prior to entering the legal profession, Brown was a print journalist for The New York Times, Newsweek, and other national publications, covering a full range of major news stories, including the war in Kosovo.

Candidate

Martin O’Malley ’88

Martin O’Malley ’88

Former Maryland Gov. Martin O’Malley (D) announced his bid for the U.S. presidency at a campaign event in Federal Hill in May 2015. O’Malley’s career in public service includes two terms as Maryland’s governor (2007-2015); two terms as Baltimore’s mayor (1999-2007); Baltimore City Councilor (1991-1999); and chair of the Democratic Governors Association (2011-2013). While in law school, O’Malley served as state field director for Congresswoman Barbara Mikulski’s successful primary and general election campaigns for the U.S. Senate.
